

Writing paper research paper writing service

The combination of all stages of development of any science represents a long sequence of heuristic guesses that are not knowledge in the full sense of this concept, and only formed in our imagination some approximate idea of real reality.